Experience Barbados' oldest natural artifact - Freshwater Bay Coral Reef. At 60 feet high and 2 miles long, it is over 20 million years in the making! Explore its majestic, dancing shallow-water sea fans at 50 feet, sponges, hard, and soft corals, and perhaps a shipwreck on your journey down to 130 feet and below.

- "It's hard to improve on perfection! A great trip."
- "I've done the regular day dive a few times but under the sea at night is a whole new and extremely enchanting experience when those flood lights go on it's like "WOW!"
- "Excellent tour overall. Interaction with customers is supreme. Very informative."
- "A little nervous at first and tentative about being underwater, I was surprised at how the large windows of the submarine removed any sense of confinement. Wonderful experience."
- "My family and I did a VIP dive with you ... thanks for the Top Class service and an awesome day out! VIP was definitely the way to go."

YOUR COLOR CHART

As you submerge, the sea water filters each colour of the sunlight. RED is the first colour to break down.

The colour ORANGE is the next to break down as you move into deeper water, and begins to look YELLOW.

At 60 feet, the colour YELLOW begins to break down and appears green. The colour RED has disappeared.

At 90 feet, the colour GREEN breaks down and begins to look BLUE. The colour BLUE is more vibrant.
